

Expository Reading and Writing Course: Preparing High School Students for College-Level English North Coast Teacher Certification Series

This professional development series will help 9th-12th grade teachers to prepare high school students to meet the expectations of college and university courses and the California English-Language Arts Common Core Standards. These rich, adaptable resources, developed by a collaborative group of California State University, California Community College, and high school faculty, can be offered as a self-contained "A-G" approved course or as supplemental material to enhance student engagement.

August 12 & 13, 2013

9:00 AM – 4:00 PM

November 8, 2013

4:00 PM – 7:00 PM

November 9, 2013

9:00 AM – 12:00 PM

Training Location: Harry Griffith Hall, Room 225
Humboldt State University

Cost of Training and Curriculum: FREE!

Cost for substitutes, mileage, lodging, and CE units to be paid by district or participant.

All participants will receive the following newly revised material:

- ✓ Expository Reading and Writing Course: Semester One
- ✓ Expository Reading and Writing Course: Semester Two
- ✓ A Text-Based Grammar for Expository Reading and Writing

Book Titles:
Reading Rhetorically
They Say/I Say

Workshop Leads: David Holper, College of the Redwoods and Amy Conley-Samuelson, Fortuna High School

To register, visit www.calstate.edu/eap/englishcourse and click on "Register here".

For information, please call Rose Francia at HSU Early Assessment Program,
(707) 826-3972 or email: eap@humboldt.edu.

Humboldt State University Extended Education will offer continuing education credit (2 units).

